RBR
N4035
C65TC

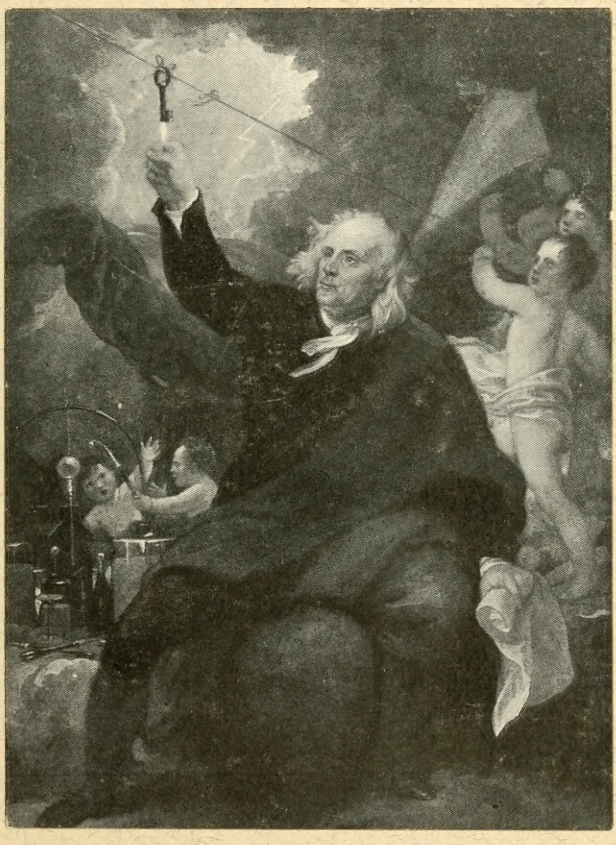
Portrait of

Benjamin Franklin

From the original picture by

Benjamin West, P. R. A.

In the possession of Godefroy Mayer, Paris



COPYRIGHT 1900, BY GODEFROY MAYER

Printed in colors, in fac-simile of the original painting

HENRY T. COATES & CO., Publishers

PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Benjamin Franklin Discovering Electricity

Colored print in fac-simile of the original painting by

Benjamin West, P. R. A.

The publishers take pleasure in offering to collectors a hitherto unknown portrait of Franklin. The original by Benjamin West, friend and compatriot of Franklin, and one of the most distinguished artists of his time, has only recently been discovered. It possesses not only the interest attaching to an authentic contemporaneous portrait, but a scientific interest as well, celebrating as it does Franklin's great discovery, which has

The Winterthur
Library

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2010 with funding from Lyrasis Members and Sloan Foundation

http://www.archive.org/details/portraitofbenjam00henr

since become one of the most potent factors in modern life.

The edition made in Paris by Godefroy Mayer, the well-known print publisher and dealer, is strictly limited to two hundred copies, on India paper, bearing the imprimatur of the "Cercle de la Libraire" of Paris.

One hundred copies have been assigned to the American publishers, who now solicit subscriptions to the same.

The size of the printed surface is 9¾ x 13¼ inches.

Price, $20.00

(OVER)

(ORDER FORM)

HENRY T. COATES & CO.

1222 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Please enter my name as a subscriber and send to me as soon as published .....cop..... of the portrait of colored in fac-simile of the original picture by Benjamin West, P.R.A., for which I agree to pay Twenty Dollars per copy.

"Benjamin Franklin Discovering Electricity"

.....

Date,.....1900. .....